DAILY PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

SATURDAY AFTERNOON, NOV. 16, 1833.

☞The River is now almost six feet above low water—a fine, navigable stage. There is much bustle on our wharf—several steam boats receiving freight.

☞We have received, and will publish, in our next, a satisfactory explanation of the Phenomena of Wednesday.

THE ADVOCATE AND THE FEDERAL PARTY.—In the Advocate, of this morning, we find the following specification of a charge, which that paper had previously made, against the federal party—

"But the editor of the Gazette knows as well as we can tell him, that the party to which he belonged, was always and is yet, in favor of reposing certain powers in the person of the executive, which only special occasions would warrant. Such, for instance, as giving to the executive the power, without the consent of Congress, of collecting imports and duties, with the aid of the military and naval force of the nation, a power which may be necessary in many exigencies that may arise in a country so geographically extended as ours, and was rendered imminently so upon a late occasion, at which time it was conferred with as hearty an unanimity, by the democratic party, as it could have been by the federalists. We did not altogether mean that it should be inferred, from the fact of the Cabinet and the principal offices of the government being filled with old federalists, that the late outrageous and unparalleled executive usurpations were solely owing to this circumstance."

Here is an explicit declaration that the federal party was always in favor of reposing in the executive certain powers which should only be granted on special occasions.—According to this view of the matter, it would seem that the federal party were for reposing permanently, in the president, powers which the democratic party supposed 'special occasions only would warrant.' This we take to be the amount of our neighbor's assertion; and, we do not hesitate to say that, it is without a shadow of evidence to sustain it. Indeed our neighbor does not pretend to cite any fact in support of it—none can be cited.—The most extensive powers that were ever intrusted to any president, previous to last winter, was during the long embargo; and then the grants were all made by a democratic majority, in opposition to all the influence and eloquence of a federal minority.

During the last winter, it is true, those members who still were federalists supported the 'enforcing bill.' The Advocate, however, admits that such measures may sometimes be necessary, and that, upon the occasion referred to, it was eminently necessary. He also admits that the enforcing bill was then as strenuously supported by the 'democratic party, as it could be by the federalists.'

We protest against the old federal party and their principles being tried and tested by the conduct of those who have apostatized from it. If our neighbor wishes to try this party, to scrutinize their principles, let him select, as the subjects of his experiments, some of those men who have adhered to this party through good and through evil report. Surely, men who have abandoned the party of Washington, and Hamilton, and Jay, do not afford a fair specimen of the merits of that party, any more than Arnold did of the heroes of the revolution.

HIGHLY ENCOURAGING.—We received the following communication, from one of our commercial friends, with a request that we would put it into "ship shape," and insert it in our editorial column. The gratifying intelligence embraced in this article is so concisely and clearly expressed, that we would not have the presumption to attempt to improve it, if that is what our friend means by putting it into "ship shape."—He must be a fastidious man, who wishes good news, or bad either, to come in any better guise.

D. Leech & Co., the enterprising proprietors of the transportation line, on the Pennsylvania Canal, have made arrangements for a large increase of business on the canal, for the next season. We understand their arrangements will embrace a sufficient number of boats and rail road cars to deliver sixty tons, daily, at each point (Philadelphia and Pittsburgh)—and in say ten days. The rate of transportation will be reduced, and the reduction will be a very considerable one, should the application to the canal commissioners for a reduction of tolls, be successful. The time will be reduced to seven or eight days, after the opening of the Columbia rail road, which, it is confidently hoped, will be ready by the first of March.

There is also a strong probability that the present lines of Bunting & Co., and Humphries & Co., which have been but partially organized, will be extended, and completely arranged, in time—of course, the fears of some of our business men, that we might not have a sufficiency of boats on the canal, for the spring business, will prove groundless.

For the Gazette.

MR. CRAIG—I have just returned from a journey to Brownsville, and have read your notice of the atmospheric phenomenon which was seen by your correspondents on Wednesday morning.

It appears that the "shower of fire," as it is commonly termed, was generally seen by the people on the road along which I passed; and it exhibited the same general appearances which are given by your correspondents. This day, I traveled in company with a gentleman who lives at Morgantown, in Virginia—who had an opportunity of observing it at that place. He informed me that the "shower" was observed at 12 o'clock, of that night, by men who are engaged at his forge, and that he himself had an opportunity of witnessing it, during the time. The meteors appeared to him to radiate, generally, from the zenith to the horizon, and some appeared to originate towards the horizon, and to take different directions inclined to it. None of them appeared to him to descend to the earth.

This extraordinary occurrence caused great consternation in the minds of many; some are said to have fainted, and others called up their families, declaring that the awful day of final reckoning was come.

These effects, upon the ignorant and weak, may be sneered at by the learned; but the truly learned will neither sneer nor laugh, until he is able to give a satisfactory account of the phenomenon; because a moment's reflection may suggest that the diffrence between the ignorant and the learned, among us, may be infinitely less than that which exists between our philosophy and the knowledge which is able to explain the occurrence.

GREAT ECLIPSE OF THE SUN.

The most remarkable of the phenomena that this year (1834) will happen, is the Eclipse of the Sun, on Sunday, the 30th of November. This is the third of the very uncommon series of five large eclipses, visible to us, in the short term of seven years; the fourth of this series will take place, May 15th, 1836, and the last, September 18th, 1838.

The eclipse of the present year will doubtless receive great attention throughout our country.—In those places where its magnitude will not exceed eleven digits, much diminution of the light is not to be expected, even at the time of the greatest obscuration; perhaps, however, it may be sufficient to render visible the planet Venus, then about 30 degrees E. S. E. of the Sun, and much nearer the earth, than usual; nor will the obscuration be very great where the eclipse is almost total; since it has been observed, on former occasions, that the uneclipsed part, even when reduced to a mere point, sheds sufficient light to render small objects distinctly visible, and invisible the brightest of the stars. Indeed, on account of the refraction of the Sun's rays by the atmosphere of the Earth, the darkness can hardly with strictness be considered total, even where the sun is completely shut out from the sight. In the great and remarkable eclipse of June 16th, 1806, when the Sun was totally obscured, at Boston, for five minutes, as much light remained as is given by the Moon when full; and greater darkness will not probably be experienced, in any place, on the present occasion.

Throughout the United States, however, a great depression of the thermometer, if placed in the Sun, will probably be noticed; and, for some minutes before and after the moment of greatest obscuration, the power of a lens to produce combustion by condensing the solar rays, will be quite, if not entirely, destroyed. At the time of the annual eclipse of February 12th, 1831, it was observed by the Editor, that the thermometer in the sun, fell from 72 to 29, and that, during the continuance of the ring, no sensible effect was produced by placing its blackened bulb in the focus of powerful burning glass.

This Eclipse, as will be seen on tracing the path of the centre, will be total in a small part of the Territory of Arkansas, and of the State of Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, and South Carolina. The principal places in which the obscurity will be probably complete, are Charleston, Beaufort, S. C., Savannah, Milledgeville, Tuscaloosa, and Little Rock. The greatest duration of total darkness, in any place, will be about 1m. 56s.; at Tuscaloosa, it will be about 1m. 53s., and at Beaufort, 1m. 46s.; these places lying very near the central path. At Charleston and Savannah, the duration will be considerably less, the former being situate about forty miles north of this path, the latter about thirty south. The width of the line of total darkness varies in its passage across the Earth, but in the United States will be about one hundred miles. Those of the inhabitants of the Atlantic States, who desire to behold this rare spectacle, the most magnificent and sublime of the phenomena of nature, compared with which, even Niagara sinks into mediocrity, will find Beaufort the most eligible place in which to make their observation; and they will not neglect the opportunity, when they reflect that the Moon's shadow will not again, for the space of thirty five years, pass over any part of the inhabited portion of the United States, or until August 7th, 1869.

As, at the time of the Eclipse of February, 1831, much inconvenience and even injury was sustained from want of care in looking at the Sun without any protection for the eye, or through glass not sufficiently colored, it may be proper to remark, that should the sky, during the continuance of this Eclipse, be clear, one of the very darkest green or red glasses of a sextant, and in default of this, a piece of common window glass, free from veins, and rendered quite black by the smoke of a lamp, only, can be used with safety. If the lustre of the Sun should be diminished by intervening clouds, a lighter shade will be sufficient.

From the Baltimore American.

The Richmond Enquirer, of the 8th inst., contains a series of documents accompanied by notices of additional facts, which afford a very cheering prospect of an amicable termination of the difficulties in Alabama. By a proper energy in the officers of the U. S. Engineer Corps, in making the locations, and the exercise of a discreet and forbearing temper, on the spot, to avoid any further cause of excitement, the apprehended collision between the authorities of the State government and the U. States may be avoided.

The sources of difficulty were two fold;—first, the conflict arising out of the refusal of the commandant of the U. States troops at Fort Mitchell, to obey the writs of the State tribunals, by surrendering to the civil power the detachment employed in the service upon which Owens was killed; or to obey the process for contempt served upon himself;—and, secondly, the resistance of the settlers, aided by the civil authority, to the forces of the Federal Government, sent to remove them, pursuant to the act of 1807, and the Indian Treaty of 1832.

The first of these difficulties was postponed in the first instance by the forbearance of Gov. Gayle, who, before summoning the force of the State, to aid the Russell Court in carrying their process into effect, transmitted all the papers to Washington, desiring to be advised at an early period of the determination of the Federal Executive. By these papers it appears that the concealment of the soldiers by the commanding officer, is admitted, and that Major McIntosh, the Commandant at the Fort, had "not received any instructions" relative to the case of Owens, and, in consequence, assuming that the soldier who shot Owens was in discharge of his duty, had refused to surrender him. Before these papers reached Washington, the Secretary of War had anticipated the case, by issuing orders to Major McIntosh to yield obedience to the civil authority. F. S. KEY, Esq. of Washington, was appointed by the President to proceed to Alabama, and the following extract from his letter of instructions shows the views of the United States authorities in this part of the case.

Extract of a letter from the Secretary of War, to Francis S. Key, Esq.

"October 31, 1833.

"You have seen by the letter addressed to Major McIntosh, it is the determination of the Government to preserve the proper ascendancy of the civil authority. The military force is employed by virtue of an act of Congress, in a specific object. In the execution of this, they will follow the direction of the Marshal, and both will be governed by your advice, in every thing relating to the execution of their duty. Let all legal process, whether from the Court of the United States or from the State of Alabama, be submitted to without resistance and without hesitation. The supremacy of the civil over the military authority is one of the great features of our institutions, and one of the bulwarks of the Constitution.—The President is particularly solicitous that no act should be done, to violate this great principle. But on the other hand, the Marshal and the Military force must be defended against vexatious proceeding; and you will, therefore, without delay, in every instance where these are instituted against them, have the matter brought before a Judge of the United States for his determination."

In regard to the second point of difficulty, arising out of the vast numbers of intruders to be removed, and the conflict of opinion as to the right of the United States to remove them by force—which threatened a disastrous collision between the governments, and what is of great moment, a large and almost incalculable amount of individual distress—a simple plan of proceeding has been adopted, to supersede, if possible, the necessity of removal at all, or to reduce it to the narrowest limits possible. It will be remembered that the obligation upon the Government to remove intruders, expires when the reservations are made, and the Indian 'locations' selected. The stipulation of the Treaty was only for the interim, between the cession of the land by the Indians, and the final conveyance to them of the lots reserved. If the trespassers were removed immediately, under the binding compact of the treaty, they could return immediately after the selection of the Indian tracts, without being liable to any disturbance, other than ordinary settlers without title; the contract on the part of Government having been fulfilled. It will also be recollected that the Marshal of Alabama has heretofore given notice that the Creek settlers will not be disturbed before the 15th of January. There is, therefore, nearly two months of interval, in which exertions can be made to bring the locations into such a state of forwardness as to obviate the necessity of removal.

In consequence, Col. Abert, Topographical Engineer, has been despatched to Alabama, with the most urgent instructions to complete the selections of the Indian lands. He has full authority to employ as many men as possible, to accelerate the surveys; and he is further instructed, if he cannot locate the individual reservations in time, to designate tracts of land within which they will be made. This, it is presumed, can be done very generally, so as to leave the portions of country from which the removal is imperative, very limited in extent.

Altogether, the aspect of affairs is much more peaceful than it has hitherto appeared to be. It is to be hoped that it will not be marred by the ill blood or bad conduct of any subordinate agent.

From a late London Paper.

SUFFERINGS OF GUILLOTINED PERSONS.

A memoir has recently been presented to the Academy of Sciences, on the subject of death by decollation, which will cause an investigation to take place, under the authority of Messrs. Magendie and Flourins. Guillotin, the inventor of the guillotine, as well as several other distinguished physiologists, was of opinion that no physical suffering attends the act of decapitation. Sue, Sommering, and Castel, entertain different views.

Experiments have been made by Sue on turkeys, sheep, and calves, when the head and body having been severed by a sharp instrument, gave severally evidence of suffering. The body of a turkey, thus decapitated, after remaining motionless a whole minute, rose on its legs, and remained in that position a minute and a half, flapping its wings, and raising its claw towards the throat.—The body of a decapitated sheep was convulsed with so much violence, that three men were obliged to hold it. The head of a calf, after decollation, opened its eyes, and moved its mouth and nostrils, for six minutes. Aldini, who tried his galvanic experiments in 1803, in Italy, on a guillotined person, in London, upon a body executed by hanging, states that muscular contraction took place during two hours after death in the hanged, and three quarters of an hour in the decapitated man. Mojon, Professor of Physiology at Genoa, having produced at Paris a system of investigation of the results of the guillotine, states that, having exposed two heads, a quarter of an hour after decollation, to a strong light, the eyelids closed suddenly. The tongue, which protruded from the lips, being pricked with a needle, was drawn back into the mouth, and the countenance expressed sudden pain. The head of a criminal, named Tillier, being submitted to examination after the guillotine, the head turned in every direction from whence he was called by name. A report, hitherto treated as fabulous, may, therefore, be believed: that, when the executioner gave a blow on the face to Charlotte Corday's head, the countenance expressed violent indignation. Fontenelle asserts that he has frequently seen the heads of guillotined persons move their lips. Siveling declares, that, by touching the spinal marrow, the most horrible demonstrations of agony succeed.

Many animals retain the power of locomotion after decapitation. A tortoise will live for six months, executing its ordinary functions, after the extraction of the brain; and twelve days, after the head has been cut completely off. Charras, an operator, at the Jardin des Plantes, having cut off the head of a viper, two of his pupils were dangerously stung by it, sixty hours afterwards. Galien records, that the Emperor Commodus was so skilful in the decapitation of ostriches, that these birds did not at first pause in their speed, after the loss of their heads. Boerhaave cut off the head of a cock, which was running towards a trough, at the distance of 20 feet, and the body fulfilled its intention. Perranit decapitated a serpent, and the body crawled towards its usual retreat. Beetles advance cautiously, examining the ground first with the right leg, then with the left, after losing their heads. The heart of a frog palpitates two hours afterwards; and flies and butterflies fly about for many minutes—Monsieur de Fontenelle's memoir contains many other apparently incredible, but equally well authenticated facts; and the further investigation of Magendie, and his learned colleague, will be laid, forthwith, before the French government. It appears on the present showing, that the guillotine is the most cruel mode of destruction ever yet devised—since no limit can be placed to the agonies of death after its operation.

The Sugar Crop.—Letters from Louisiana speak encouragingly of the prospects of the Sugar Crop. On many of the plantations the Sugar harvest commenced early in October, and the product of the cane is of a superior quality. It is believed that more sugar will be produced in Louisiana the present, than during any former year. The hot weather that followed the storm which recently blew down so much of the cane, had the effect of restoring it again, and the present, it is reckoned, will prove as good a sugar year as 1828. The Richmond Enquirer says "it is the opinion of many reflecting persons, that the emancipation of the slaves in the British West Indies, will have the same effect that it is said to have produced in St. Domingo. It will paralyze, at least for a time, the agriculture of the Islands—lessen their productions—and raise the price of sugars. In this case, the duty on the article may be still further reduced."

About three hundred Poles are ready to embark, if not embarked, from Trieste, in Austria, under the sanction and support of the Austrian government for this country. Two vessels have been granted to them; and the government of Austria propose giving to each Pole the sum of fifty dollars on his landing in this country. It is not certain at what port they will disembark.—Amer. Sentinel.

Folly of Objections to Education.—It is not easy to conceive in what manner instructing men in their duties can prompt them to neglect these duties, or how that enlargement of reason which enables them to comprehend the true grounds of authority and the obligation to obedience should induce them to disobey. The admirable mechanism of society, together with that subordination of rank which is essential to its subsistence, is surely not an elaborate imposture, which the exercise of reason will detect and expose. The objection we have stated implies a reflection on social order, equally impolitic, invidious, and unjust. Nothing in reality renders legitimate government so insecure as extreme ignorance in the people.—It is this which yields them an easy prey to seduction; makes them the victims of prejudice and false alarms, and ferocious withal, that their interference in a time of public commotion is more to be dreaded than the eruption of a volcano.—Rob't. Hall.

The editor of the Washington Globe, and, indeed, every member of the Kitchen Cabinet, should hold in particular honor the memory of the personage, in one of Diderot's works, who held this language.—Nat. Gaz.

"If I was acquainted with history, I could show you that evil has always come upon earth from men of genius, but I don't know history because I know nothing. The deuce take me if I ever learned any thing, or am the worse for knowing nothing. I was once at the table of a Minister to the King of ——, who had the wit of any half dozen, and he proved as clearly as two and two make four, that nothing was so beneficial to the people as falsehood, or so noxious as truth. I don't remember his proofs, but it followed evidently that people of genius were detestable, and that if an infant bore marks of this dangerous gift of nature, it ought to be choked or thrown to the dogs."

Old Continental Money.—We remember having heard an old gentleman say that "when the Old Continental Money began to go down, a trotting horse could not keep pace with the depreciation." The expression was forcible, and fastened itself strongly on our memory, but we did not entirely appreciate its truth until this morning, when a friend gave us the following memorandum, which he cut from the writing desk of another venerable gentleman, who died lately, at an advanced age, and was a merchant of much eminence.

The Banks of Newfoundland.—These banks extend over a space of forty thousand miles, and are from thirty to forty five fathoms below the surface of the ocean. The shoals are inhabited by innumerable tribes of muscles and clams, to which it is a favorite residence, as they can easily bury their shells in the soft sand. They have enemies to contend with. The codfish resort to this coast to prey on them. They keep a constant watch, and swim about a foot above the sub-marine sands; when a muscle opens its shell, it is immediately seized and devoured. At other times the fish do not wait: they are provided with a horny protuberance round their mouths; with these they burrow in the sand, and capture the muscle in its shell. The fishermen of various nations, French, English, and Americans, who resort to these banks, take annually from eight to ten millions of fish; on opening them they find the remains of twenty or fifty muscles in each—sometimes the muscle shells are found either wholly or partially dissolved. The first care of the fishermen, after taking their stations, is to ascertain the depth of water; the lines must be regulated so as to lie on the bottom, where the fish are always engaged in this species of sub marine war.

The Alabama Controversy.—We differ with that portion of the Press which, admitting the RIGHT of the government to expel the intruders from the Indian land ceded by the Creeks in Alabama, yet contend that it would be EXPEDIENT to forego the exercise of that right, without consultation with the Creeks. If there were but two parties to this question, to wit: the intruders and the government, this view of the subject would be sound; but as we know there is a THIRD party, the Creeks themselves, to whom the government is bound by a solemn covenant, we are surprised that such a view should be entertained. If by any species of compromise the rights of this third party can be partially relinquished, by suffering the continuance of a part of the intruders, it would be well. But it is obvious that such a compromise must be entered into with the concurrence of the Creeks themselves, if their rights are to be at all respected.—Charleston Patriot.

Colonization.—In the House of Representatives, of Tennessee, on the 30th ult., the following resolutions were adopted:

"Resolved, That the select committee, on the subject of the American Colonization Society, be instructed to inquire into the expediency of memorializing Congress to make an appropriation of $100,000, annually, to be applied by the said Colonization Society in transporting to Liberia the free colored population of the United States.

"Resolved, That said committee inquire into the expediency of making an appropriation by this general assembly of $500, annually, to aid the Tennessee Auxiliary Colonization Society, to be applied by the said society in transporting to the colony of Liberia the free colored population of the State of Tennessee."

Falling Stars.—I observed, this morning, upon waking from sleep, that flashes of light appeared to be passing the windows, and upon going out, found the atmosphere illuminated by Shooting Stars, or Meteors, which seemed to be falling to the earth like rain. Some of them were so large as to cause a shadow, and to leave a luminous train behind them, extending over from 40° to 50° of the horizon. But what is very singular, they all appeared to shoot directly from one, and the same centre, like radii from the centre towards the circumference of a circle. This centre was in the cluster of stars called the "Sickle," about the middle of its bend, and about 6° or 7° northwesterly of the star "Regulus." There must have been many hundreds, perhaps thousands visible, between five o'clock and day light. It is believed that the same appearance was visible on the night of the 12th.

STRANGE PHENOMENON.

The following remarkable occurrence would scarcely have received my own belief, on evidence less satisfactory than that of my own eyes. On the morning of the 13th inst., about 3 o'clock, nature seemed to have rebelled against the monotonous routine of her ordinary operations, and exhibited a phenomenon, worthy not only of being recorded for the gratification of the curious, but of eliciting the serious investigation of the most proficient in natural and philosophical science.—About the time mentioned, my attention, with that of eight other passengers in a Stage Coach—at that time a few miles East of Ligonier—was directed, by the driver, to what he called the falling of the stars. On obeying the summons, we beheld what was truly wonderful. The firmament seemed to have let go its hold on all its sparkling luminaries. The appearance very much resembled a shower of fire. Planet after planet appeared to scoff at the power of gravitation, and chase each other lawless through the sky. Hundreds of them were visible at the same instant, each followed by its respective trail of light. These coruscations differed in length and brilliancy, as also in duration. Some of them were of sufficient length to subtend an angle of 25 or 30 degrees—some were nigh, others were more remote. The blaze or train of some disappeared almost with the fiery orb from which they emanated; others remained stationary, like blazing pillars, from three to five minutes, emitting large quantities of light, and then vanished into air. Most of them fell perpendicularly towards the earth; others moved transversely, exhibiting confusion most confounded. The sky was moonless and clear, with the exception of some ragged clouds that hung around the eastern horizon.—The illumination produced by many of the meteoric trails, would strike the eye like a vivid flash of lightning, producing light sufficient to see, at our distance, the smallest stones in the road. The whole hemisphere was streaked and sometimes crossed with fiery lines. This operation continued till break of day, more than two hours, resembling, except in its fiery clouds, the falling of hail, or large flakes of snow, at the commencement of a storm. On the whole, the sight was truly grand, and most sublime; but, to an unphilosophical or superstitious mind, somewhat portentous.

LATEST NEWS FROM PORTUGAL!

Latest from Portugal.—Captain Eldridge, of the Marathon, arrived at Boston, from St. Ubes, which he left Oct. 1st., brought no papers, but reports that the forces of the contending parties at and near Lisbon remained at the above date as by our last advices, but that an attack by Pedro on Miguel was confidently expected every hour at the time of his sailing.—*Phila. LATEST FROM CANTON.

By the brig Ivanhoe, Capt. Snow, arrived at N. York on Sunday, the editors of the Journal of Commerce have received Canton papers to June 10th. The following are extracts:

The literary examination in Kwang chow foo commenced on the 6th of the 4th moon, May 25th. The number of competitors is stated to be more than 25,000, varying in age from the lad of fifteen years to the hoary head of seventy and upwards. The candidates from the several heens assemble in Canton, on different days, according to notice previously given by the Chefoo, who presides at the examinations.

Letters had been received in Canton, during the month, which report that an insurrection had broken out in Szechuen. One officer, of the fifth rank, and several of inferior rank, are said to have been killed.

The accounts of the rebellion in Formosa continue to be vague and unsatisfactory.

CANTON, June 10.—Opium: we have no change to notice in the drug. Canton Silk: a great part of the first crop has been taken off for native consumption.

Medical Colleges in the United States.—The American Almanac and Repository of Useful Knowledge, for 1834, contains a list of the Medical Schools and the number of Students that attended the course of 1832–33 at each school, viz: Maine one school, 103 students; New Hampshire one, 94; Vermont, two, 14 and 62, making 76; Massachusetts, two, 82 and 85, making 167; Connecticut, one, 73; New York two, 188 and 190, making 378; Pennsylvania, two, 368 and 121, making 489; Maryland, two, 150 and 0, total 150; District of Columbia, one, 30; Virginia one, 40; South Carolina, two, 150 and 0, making 150; Georgia, one, 0; Kentucky, one, 211; Ohio, two, 110 and 0, making 110. Thus it appears that there are in the United States, 2,071 Medical Students, nearly one fourth of whom are Students in this City.—Phila. Com. Herald.

THERE'S NOTHING LIKE PRAYER.

Tune—"Sweet Home."

BY MISS ANN LUTTON, OF MOIRA, IRELAND.

When torn is the bosom by sorrow and care,
Be it ever so simple there's nothing like prayer:
It eases, soothes, softens, subdues, yet sustains,
Gives vigor to hope, and puts passion in chains.
Prayer, prayer, O sweet prayer,
Be it ever so simple, there's nothing like prayer.

When far from the friends we hold dearest to part,
What fond recollections still cling to the heart,
Past scenes and past converse, past enjoyments are there,
O how hurtfully pleasing till hallowed by prayer.
Prayer, prayer, O sweet prayer,
Be it ever so simple, there's nothing like prayer.

When pleasure would woo us from piety's arms,
The siren sings sweetly, or silently charms,
We listen, love, loiter, are caught in the snare,
But, looking to Jesus, we conquer by prayer.
Prayer, prayer, O sweet prayer,
Be it ever so simple, there's nothing like prayer.

While strangers to prayer we are strangers to bliss,
Heaven pours its full streams through no medium but this;
And till we shall the Seraphim's ecstacy share,
Our chalice of joy must be guarded by prayer.
Prayer, prayer, O sweet prayer,
Be it ever so simple, there's nothing like prayer.

IMPROMPTU.

There's a spirit above
And a spirit below,
A spirit of love
And a spirit of wo;
The spirit above is a spirit divine,
The spirit below is a spirit of wine.—

A Partner Wanted.

THE Subscriber, being possessed of a valuable property in the Borough of Brownsville, in the county of Fayette, and state of Pennsylvania, in a public part of the town, consisting of two and a half lots of ground, bounded by Water street on the north, and the National Road on the south, say 150 feet on each, by 180 feet in depth, on which are erected one large three story Brick Dwelling House, one two story Brick Dwelling House, one Brick Foundry, one three story Stone and Brick Engine Shop; the whole of which are finished for the purposes intended. A considerable business has been and still is carried on in Manufacturing Steam Engines for Steam Boats, Mills, Furnaces, &c. &c.; the Castings for which are made at the foundry; also, other Castings, such as Grates, Stoves, and a variety of other articles, all of which are in demand. The subscriber is fully sensible that an extensive and profitable business could be carried on by an accession of Capital; he therefore wishes to sell one half the above described property to some person as a partner, who would have a few thousand dollars. Brownsville is well situated for such an establishment, being on the Monongahela river, which is navigable the greater part of the year: plenty of good stone coal in the whole vicinity, and in the neighborhood of a number of Furnaces, and as healthy a situation as any in the United States. A further description is deemed unnecessary, as any person wishing to purchase will come and view the premises.

DAILY PAPER AT HARRISBURGH.—The subscribers propose to publish a Daily Paper during the coming session of the Legislature, provided a sufficient number of subscribers are procured to warrant the expense. The necessity of a daily journal at the seat of government, impartial as to politics, and giving the debates of both houses, fully, faithfully, and daily, has long since been acknowledged. Such a paper cannot be sustained in Harrisburg, unless the citizens of other sections of the state come forward and aid in its support. At the present stage of our improvement system, and fiscal conserns of the commonwealth, a daily paper, the statements of which can be depended upon, published at the seat of government, must be a desideratum of all parties. We therefore shall expect that exertions will be made in every section of the state to procure us subscribers.

The Daily Pennsylvania Intelligencer will be printed on a half imperial sheet, for five dollars (in advance,) during the session. It will not only contain full and impartial daily reports of the proceedings of the Legislature, but will contain a summary of the proceedings of Congress, besides news and miscellaneous reading. ☞Post Masters and Agents procuring four subscribers, shall receive a fifth copy gratis.

SIX EGYPTIAN MUMMIES
In the Diamond, next door to the office of The Pittsburgh Gazette.

THE features of some of these mummies are in perfect expression—the hair of the head preserved as if now living. For the direct purpose of giving visitors, of all descriptions, that wish to see the ancients themselves, and likewise the bodies that were embalmed not less than three thousand years ago, this collection was exhibited to a numerous concourse of visitors, in the city of Philadelphia, for the space of 3 months; and next in Baltimore, in the Museum, for five weeks, where contract was only made for two weeks, and continued for five weeks by request. The inhabitants of this city, it is hoped, will call, and patronize a collection worthy the attention of the curious.

The proprietor is authorized to use the names of the most eminent physicians and professors in the city of Philadelphia, and likewise that of Baltimore.

FAIRBANK'S PLATFORM SCALES.

THESE scales are constructed upon an improved principle; are fitted up with great care by the manufacturers, and warranted to weigh with accuracy from half a pound to 12,000. Being placed in, and forming part of, the floor, the process of weighing is performed with ease and facility, while the space they occupy may be improved as a passage way or for other purposes.

The construction of these scales is such that they are little liable to derangement of wear, and their perfect operation will be guaranteed for any reasonable length of time.

The usual objection, that a new method of weighing cannot be safely entrusted to unskilful hands, is obviated by the use of the improved BALANCE, concerning which are the following remarks in the Journal of the Frankiin Institute, of the state of Pennsylvania, for the promotion of the Mechanic Arts, for June, 1833. (Edited by Thos. P. Jones, M. D., late Superintendent of the Patent Office, at Washington, Professor of Mechanics in the Franklin Institute, &c.

"The Messrs. Fairbanks, some time since, obtained a patent for a Platform Weighing Machine, and this mode of adjuating and graduating the Beam of the Balance, and the weights, was devised by them with a view to its employment with the before mentioned machine. We have had an opportunity of examining one of their balances, and have been much pleased with it: this examination, however, was not necessary to the conviction that it possesses a just claim to the character of a real improvement, the whole arrangement being so simple as to enable any person to perceive that it is well adapted to the purpose contemplated, that of facilitating the business of weighing, and more especially of heavy articles."

The subscriber, as Agent, will receive orders for the above Scales, which will be made in this city to order. They can be seen at his Warehouse, No. 84, Front street.

SALE OF REAL ESTATE.

THE Subscribers, Trustees of the New Philadelphia Society, at Phillipsburgh, Beaver county, Pennsylvania, offer for sale the following property, to wit:

1	tract of land	containing	330 acres
1	do	do	330
1	do	do	67
1	do	do	7
1	do	do	40

other lots, containing about 6

The above lands lie in one body, fronting about two miles upon the Ohio river—immediately opposite the mouth of Big Beaver creek, and the Beaver Division of the Pennsylvania Canal. The land is rich, and a part of it under a high state of cultivation—its location pleasant and healthy. The improvements upon the same are valuable, including the town of Phillipsburgh, late the residence of Count Leon, and the New Philadelphia Society. The town contains about 40 Dwelling Houses, now in order; some of them brick houses and two stories high. A large and spacious Hotel, a Store house, Church, a number of Shops, for mechanics, Stables, Barns, and other out houses. Also, two large new buildings, lately erected, but not yet finished, one of brick, the other of frame (the latter suitable for a manufactory) a very extensive public garden, and also fruit trees of various kinds. The property has also attached to it the right of a ferry across the Ohio, which is valuable, and becoming more so every day.

The above property is situated in the midst of a wealthy and prosperous country, distant about 28 miles below Pittsburgh, and one mile from Beaver, the seat of justice for Beaver county---and having a view for many miles up and down the Ohio, and of the country to a great distance around.

The subscribers are confident in saying that few situations could be found, presenting greater facilities to the farmer, mechanic, the manufacturer, and others--- a soil rich and productive---the neighborhood abounding in coal---well timbered and watered, and, by means of the Pennsylvania Canal, and steamboat navigation, a cheap and ready conveyance to market, and a communication with other places is ensured.

The property is susceptible of divisions into farms, or for the location of new towns, or for the extension of the present one.

Should it not be sold on or before the first day of January next, it will then be offered at public sale, upon the premises, to the highest and best bidder.

It will be sold in a body, or in parcels, to suit purchasers.

Terms of sale will be reasonable.

Information can be had by enquiring of the subscribers, two of whom live in the neighborhood, and one on the premises.

This work is designed for the agriculturist, and will be found to contain much, both interesting and profitable, to those who cultivate the soil as a business, or merely a garden for amusement. Mechanics' Magazine, and Register of Improvements and Inventions. To the Mechanics of the United States---In this populous and enlightened country, almost every description of persons can obtain knowledge and amusement connected with their peculiar pursuits, through the medium of the Journal or Magazine, especially devoted to their interests. The Theologian, the Farmer, the Philosopher, the Sportsman, and even the Plough Boy, has each his Journal, where he can find a record of the passing events of the day, connected with his peculiar avocations and recreations. Hitherto, the Mechanics (who form a large and most important portion of the community) have had no Journal, to which they could turn, with the certainty of finding that information they desire, no periodical of which they could say: 'This is ours, and for us.' In the hope that the attempt to supply such a want at a price so reasonable as to be within the reach of all, will meet with your active support, the subscriber proposes to publish, on the first day of each month, a Mechanics' Magazine. It will contain a well digested selection of the most useful and interesting articles in the London Mechanics' Magazine, London Register of Arts and Sciences, Repertory of Inventions, Library of Useful Knowledge, Journal of the Franklin Institute, and other works, connected with the arts and manufactures, published in this country and in Europe, accompanied with numerous and well executed Engravings. Its pages will be open for the communications of all, and especially for those of the practical artisan, to whose interest it will be particularly devoted. The Mechanics' Magazine will contain, also, a due portion of the occurrences of the month, Scientific and Literary Reviews of Books, Anecdotes, Economical Receipts, Reports of the state of Mechanics' Institutions, and other Scientific Societies in this state and other countries. To be published monthly. Each succeeding number will contain 64 pages, handsomely printed, and stitched in a neat cover. Six numbers will form a volume, for which an index and title page will be supplied, and also a Portrait of some distinguished Mechanic, as a Frontispiece. Terms, $3 per annum, in advance.

DOCTOR ROBERT'S

☞ WELCH MEDICAMENTUM. ☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn, It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately; inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,
From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.

Utica, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly, D. C. LANSING.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC ELIXER.

ONE of the most agreeable and efficacious Medicines ever discovered for the permanent cure of those chronic states of derangement of the stomach, constituting that miserable disease called Dyspepsia.

The basis of this Elixer s vegetables, and perfectly innocent in its operation; it destroys that sour state of the stomach, the instant it is taken, and stops the morbid secretion, by giving strength to the muscular fibre of that important organ, by which means the peristaltic motion of the intestines is increased, and the costiveness obviated; a new action is given to the system, which puts an end to a train of distressing nervous sensations.

Another form of the disease in which the Elixer is admirably calculated to relieve, is the decline of fever, where the stomach will not bear the ordinary strengthening medicines indicated in such cases, it has the surprising effect of giving vigor, and restoring the natural secretions of the body, without increasing the febrile state. Not the least danger is to be apprehended from exposure to cold, while under the use of this medicine, nor will it interrupt necessary employment of the patient a single hour.

☞ A number of cases of cures performed by the Anti-Dyspeptic Elixer in the vicinity of Pittsburgh can be given.

GEO. W. CARPENTER'S
COMPOUND SYRUP OF LIVERWORT,

A SAFE and Valuable Medicine for Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Consumption, and Liver Complaints.

Most of the medicines made use of for the above diseases are of a stimulating nature, composed generally of Resins and Balsams, in alcoholic solutions, which, although sometimes giving temporary relief, in almost every instance where they are freely used, aggravate the disease, and reduce the strength of the patient.

This article possesses superior advantages over these preparations, its action being of a tonic, invigorating and strengthening nature, thus overcoming the disease by promoting expectoration, and gradually increasing the strength of the patient, and thus, without being attended with any unpleasant effects: it also agrees with the stomach, in a cases, and is a pleasant medicine to take.

Rights to use the machine in that part of the United States, named above, will be sold by the single county or in larger districts. As it is presumed that no one will purchase without seeing the machine at work, a description of it is deemed unnecessary. Should any person, however, wish to purchase, and find it inconvenient to visit the places where it is in operation, a machine will be furnished, warranted to plane, tongue and groove, and bring to an exact width and thickness, a white pine board of 12 feet long, and of any width from 1 to 14 inches, in one minute and ten seconds, or an oak board of the same dimensions in 2 minutes and 10 seconds. Machines may be seen at work in the cities of New Orleans, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and others at the south and east, at Wheeling, Virginia, and at the saw mill of Messrs. Irwin & Herron, in this city.

Persons desiring to purchase will have the certificates of scientific and practical men who have seen it at work, in the different places in which it has been put up, forwarded to them. They give their opinion as to the great value of the invention, state the time they have seen boards dressed by this machine, and describe the quality of the work as compared with that performed by hand labor.
